Libratone was founded on a big idea - to free sound. We are now on the verge of transforming our business to become more digital focused across our whole organisation. For this journey, we are looking for some of the best, most passionate and dedicated colleagues to join us.

Our headquarter is located in Copenhagen, Denmark and we have colleagues in many parts of the world incl. the UK, the Netherlands, US, China, Japan and Germany.

We are looking for a tech-savvy Ecommerce Manager with a background in Digital Sales - preferably with a background from a major digital marketplace player.

The Ecommerce manager will lead all of Libratone's Ecommerce efforts across various countries and eTailers including, but not limited to, Amazon and handle the daily operations.

Main Tasks and Responsibilities:

- Development and maintenance of the companies' ecommerce efforts across various countries and eTailers, including but not limited to, Amazon
- Monitor and handle everyday ecommerce transactions incl product listings, order management, inventory management, pricing and media optimization (ACOS focused)
- Together with the digital business analyst create digital sales reports, optimisation recommendation and implementation of those to deliver an increased ROI
- Identify and reach out to potential affiliates

We expect:

- Experience with commerce platforms such as Magento, Shopify, Bigcommerce and others
- Experience in working with online retailers e.g. Amazon via FBA, eBay, other European channels (cdiscount in france etc.)
- Experience in working with third party APIs (potentially Amazon, other etailers, couriers, shipping)
- Understanding / knowledge of cross border trading and using multiple currencies
- Experience in working with a payment gateway provider(s)
- Understanding of best practices for ecommerce, such as abandoned carts, customer conversion etc.
- Experience inventory management software e.g. Linnworks, channel advisor etc. is of an advantage
- Experience in re-platforming an Ecommerce website is preferred as well as experience in launching international Ecommerce stores
- Ability for multi-tasking, working to emerging & tight timelines
- Strong communication skills and the ability to work as part of a team
- Fluent in English and German a plus

As Ecommerce Manager you will be based in our Berlin office and report to the Digital Director.
